

POLICE DEPARTMENT

Fiscal Year 2012

Message from the Chief

Policing in the town of Amherst has changed over the years, and 2012 was no exception. This year the men and women of the Amherst Police Department continued to confront many difficult issues and challenges. In light of the ongoing economic downturn, the department continued to utilize innovative ideas to help curtail the ever increasing cost of doing business without jeopardizing our ability to complete our mission. The members of this department work diligently to protect the safety, rights and property of every person within the town of Amherst and take extreme pride in the many services we provide and our ability to meet the increasingly high expectations and demands placed upon us by our community.

As the host community of the University of Massachusetts, the States Flagship University Campus, Amherst and Hampshire College, we as an agency have witnessed a significant increase in the student off-campus housing population. Student enrollment continues to increase, 16% at the University of Massachusetts over the past ten years. There is an increase of younger undergraduates moving off-campus. These factors have resulted in many college students now residing in areas that were formally owner occupied family neighborhoods. The expansion of students into these areas of town has resulted in a sharp increase of requests for police services. Together with increases in census population and residential development in Amherst, the police department is continually challenged by reduced staffing levels, 10% decrease since 2007, and the increased call volume which taxes an already busy department. These added responsibilities can often only be accomplished by officers working forced overtime which negatively affects the safety, morale and productivity of our personnel.

The police department continues to be successful in obtaining highly competitive grant awards. This year we received in excess of $225,000 in state and federal grants enabling the department to hire personnel, purchase new equipment, and conduct additional enforcement initiatives. A grant from the Department of Justice funds the continuation of the departments civilian domestic/sexual assault advocate. In addition, the department was awarded $55,000 from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Executive Office of Public Safety and Security (EOPSS) to fund the hiring, training and equipment for a part-time civilian crime analyst. The analysis of the data developed by the crime analyst will be utilized to make strategic, tactical and long term decisions regarding staffing and deployment of personnel to accomplish the overall goal of reducing and preventing crime within the Amherst Community. A grant also enabled the police department to purchase a license plate reader system and equipment for the child passenger seat inspection program. Additional grant awards provided funds for multi-prong enforcement and educational programs promoting pedestrian and bicycle safety and the enforcement of the underage drinking and operating under the influence laws.

We remain committed to working in partnership with other town departments and outside agencies to successfully collaborate on initiatives to problem solve community concerns and quality of life issues in the town of Amherst. In addition, we look forward to continued discussions with our partners at the University of Massachusetts relating to areas of mutual police assistance, student accountability and concerns regarding the impact of collegiate activity within our shared community.

Scott Livingstone, Chief of Police

Detective Bureau

The Detective Bureau was staffed this year by Lieutenant Ronald A. Young, Sergeant David R. Knightly, Detective Christina B. Knightly, Detective Richard P. MacLean, Detective Janet M. Lopez and Detective Gregory D. Wise. Detective Jamie P. Reardon was reassigned from the patrol division to the detective bureau in November.

The detective bureau provides support to the patrol division and assists them with follow up in extensive criminal investigations, major crimes, and evidence handling. Officers assigned to the detective bureau not only maintain casework, but also continue their roles within the agency that provides services to our community. This includes interaction with the school district, facilitating victim advocacy with available resources, and assisting patrol officers with citizen group activities.

Officers assigned to the detective bureau are responsible for licensing functions for the town, background investigations and crime scene assessment. Detective Lopez acts as the Court liaison to the Office of the Northwest District Attorney, and is charged with overseeing the successful prosecution of criminal cases.

The past fiscal year saw a dramatic increase in residential burglaries in Amherst. Lengthy investigation resulted in subsequent arrests and the numbers of burglary incidents has dropped dramatically. Other major incidents included weapon related assaults, motor vehicle accidents with injury, and two bank robberies. During this time period, officers assigned to the detective bureau charged, through indictment or arrest, 118 people with a total 154 crimes.

The Challenge is a joint initiative supported by the Massachusetts Chiefs of Police Association (MCOPA) and the Massachusetts Executive Office of Public Safety and Security (EOPSS). The Massachusetts Law Enforcement Challenge is a highly competitive award program that recognizes police departments statewide for their traffic safety efforts to reduce motor vehicle-related fatalities, injuries and economic loss in communities by combining traffic enforcement with public information and education. This is the fourth year the department has been recognized by the Massachusetts Executive Office of Public Safety and Security for its traffic safety efforts having received the first place award in 2010 based on the department's 2009 data.

Byrne Memorial Justice Assistance Grant (Byrne JAG) Program which provides Massachusetts critical funding necessary to support a range of program areas including law enforcement, prosecution and court programs, prevention and education programs, corrections and community corrections, drug treatment and enforcement, crime victim and witness initiatives, and various planning, evaluation and technology improvement programs. The Amherst Police Department will use this funding to hire, train and equip a part-time civilian crime analyst. The goal of this program is to prevent and reduce crime within the town of Amherst through the analysis of incident, traffic and call data.

May 23, 2012

Amherst Police Officers Nicholas J. Chandler and Scott M. Soverino were recognized by the Massachusetts Chapter of Mothers Against Drunk Driving, receiving their 2012 Drive for Life Award, at a ceremony held at the Devens Common Center in Devens, MA. Both officers were recognized, along with other municipal and state police officers from across the state for their dedication and commitment in enforcing the drunk driving and underage drinking laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. The following officers were honored by the Amherst Police Department:

October 3, 2011

While pursuing bank robbery suspects on Route 9 Lieutenant Young's vehicle was forced off the roadway to avoid a vehicle that had merged into his travel lane. While able to successfully avoiding the head-on collision, Lieutenant Young's vehicle crashed into a utility pole. As Lieutenant Young was wearing his seatbelt, he was able to walk away from the accident with only minor abrasions from the airbag deployment.

January 13, 2012

Lieutenant Jerry Millar, Officer Carlos Gutierrez, Officer Nicholas Chandler, Officer Joshua Harris and Officer Scott Soverino were issued a letter of Merit. Presented by their peers, these officers were recognized for their actions and professionalism in the apprehension of a robbery suspect on December 25, 2011. All of the officers demonstrated outstanding teamwork while taking into custody the suspect, who the awoken homeowners had discovered stealing their Christmas gifts. Subsequent investigation confirmed that the suspect had broken into a total of five homes that morning.

Communications Center

The Amherst Emergency Communications Center remains committed to providing the public with the most effective emergency and non-emergency services available. The emergency dispatchers are dedicated to being the vital link between community members and public safety agencies. They consider themselves lifelong learners constantly training and preparing to provide the most efficient and professional emergency response.

Fiscal year 2012 proved to be a historical year for the communication center as they faced a formidable set of performance challenges. The October snowstorm proved to be one of the most daunting events ever encountered by the department, as personnel and equipment were strained as never before. The training and emergency preparedness the communications center and town of Amherst have put into place over the years enabled dispatchers to function admirably throughout the incident. While less severe than the snowstorm in October, the tornado in June, hurricane in August, and several additional weather related events also tested the abilities of the department. Once again, communications center personnel displayed their expertise and professionalism as they rose to meet each and every challenge. In addition, staff from the communication center and other town departments participated in After Action Meetings following several of these incidents to evaluate the effectiveness of our multi-departmental response and to identify areas requiring further improvement.

Historically, staffing levels and turnovers are an issue in emergency communications centers nationwide. Due to the stressful nature of the job and work hours it can often be very difficult to train and retain qualified individuals. The Amherst Communications Center is currently fully staffed with funding from the town and the additional support of a State 911 grant. Morale in the center continues to remain high and the turnover rate has remained low.

The center continues to host various training and educational initiatives which are attended by telecommunicators throughout the region. The department has reinstituted an in-house training program covering a wide range of topics that impact the emergency dispatcher. In addition to in-service educational opportunities, the members of the communication center frequently participate in specialized training programs offered by other agencies. It is the goal of the communications center to remain one of the most progressive and highly trained communication centers in the state.

The demands of the profession continue to expand and the public's expectation of their emergency communications staff continues to evolve. The days of simply answering a call and alerting the police or fire departments have long ago passed as the complexity of the emergency dispatcher's job continues to sharply increase. Training and certification in CPR, emergency medical dispatch, hazardous material response, incident command structure, lifeflight activations, statewide task force activations, along with the mastering of numerous software applications are just a few of the skills required to work in the Amherst Communications Center. The current staff includes Michael Curtin, William Worthley, Elizabeth Chudzik, Jessica Pronovost, Joshua Cicia, Janet Sharp, Scott Delpozzo, Jason Rushford, Scott Houston, Stephanie Everett, Kevin Gleason and Jeremy Kommel-Bernstein. The department continues to monitor regional communication center efforts and looks forward to the upcoming fiscal year.
